Statement on RoHS compliancy.

Danotherm Electric A/S has studied the RoHS directive 2002/95/EC in detail, including the revision dated 8 June 2011 called directive 2011/65/EC.

We have checked with all suppliers of raw materials for our resistors to make sure, that these are fully aware of the requirements in the above mentioned documents.

All orders to our suppliers are given on condition that they adhere to the RoHS directive.

We hereby certify, that to the best of our knowledge the resistors are RoHS compliant and that no harmful agents are added intentionally.
